

COVIDIEN

positive results for life

The Respiratory and Monitoring Solutions Business Group is a $1.2 billion dollar division of Covidien, formerly Tyco Healthcare. RMS systems are used to monitor, diagnose and treat respiratory disease and sleep disorders, and provide life sustaining ventilation and oxygen support for patients. We are currently recruiting for the following positions:

SOFTWARE QUALITY ENGINEER - Boulder, CO Corp HQ – relo provided

Would you -

Like to leverage your expertise in software testing and with the software development process?

Move into software quality to help to set up a more efficient and effective design processes?

Have a significant impact on product quality?

Grow your career and join a team that is working to get it right from the start – refine the processes, redefine the activities, and make sure the proper events occur at the right time?

Share your knowledge and support the product design team providing guidance, mentoring and training?

Then join Covidien Respiratory and Monitoring Solutions as a Software Quality Engineer!

Position Summary:

Responsible for ensuring that the software used as part of our medical devices and products is developed according to good design practices.

Minimum Requirements:

BS EE, CS, or CE

3+ yrs in a software quality engineering or software test role dealing with software that is part of a medical device, or a product for a highly regulated industry i.e. aerospace, automotive, etc. MED DEVICE NOT REQUIRED

Working knowledge of product risk assessment, requirements management and tracing, defect tracking, configuration management techniques, and how they are applied in the software development lifecycle

Understanding of current Software Quality techniques and software industry standards (e.g. ISO, IEEE, CMMI), and their impact on internal procedures, software quality, safety and efficacy of products

Working knowledge of C, C++, and LabVIEW

For more information about these opportunities, go to: www.covidien.com/careers. Pull up jobs for Boulder, CO or send your resume to Tim.Wasik@Covidien.com

Covidien is an Affirmative Action / Equal Opportunity Employer.